

ANOTHER BIG FIGHT TONIGHT; BATTLE IS ON

Four Pulls Carded for Settlement Tonight at Armory—Interest is Increasing

TONIGHT'S TUG OF WAR PROGRAM.
(Upper Half.)
25th Infantry, first team, vs. U. S. S. Navajo.

Pacifics vs. Co. G, 1st Infantry, N. G. H.

(Lower Half.)
U. S. S. Alert vs. 2d Infantry.

National Guard of Hawaii vs. 25th Infantry, second team.

Winners in each section pull Saturday night in finals.

Added event Saturday for losing teams of tonight's pulls.

This will be another big night at the National Guard armory, for at 8 o'clock the tug-of-war tournament, for the championship of the Islands, will be resumed. Four pulls are on the program, and it is almost certain that the events will not be decided in anything like as brief time as was the case Tuesday night. In the upper half of the draw the four winners will fight to get into the finals for the big money, while in the lower half the losers of Tuesday's pull will start a consolation event for another prize.

No matter which teams win in the upper half, there is certain to be one service team and one Hawaiian team in the finals Saturday night, and this will add greatly to the interest. Tonight the heavy 25th Infantry team pulls the husky sailors from the Navy, while the old reliable Pacifics go against G company of the national guard regiment.

Interest in the tug-of-war tournament is steadily increasing and if, as seems not unlikely, the 25th Infantry first team gets into the finals, the armory will be jammed Saturday night with rooters from Schofield.

HIT OR MISS IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

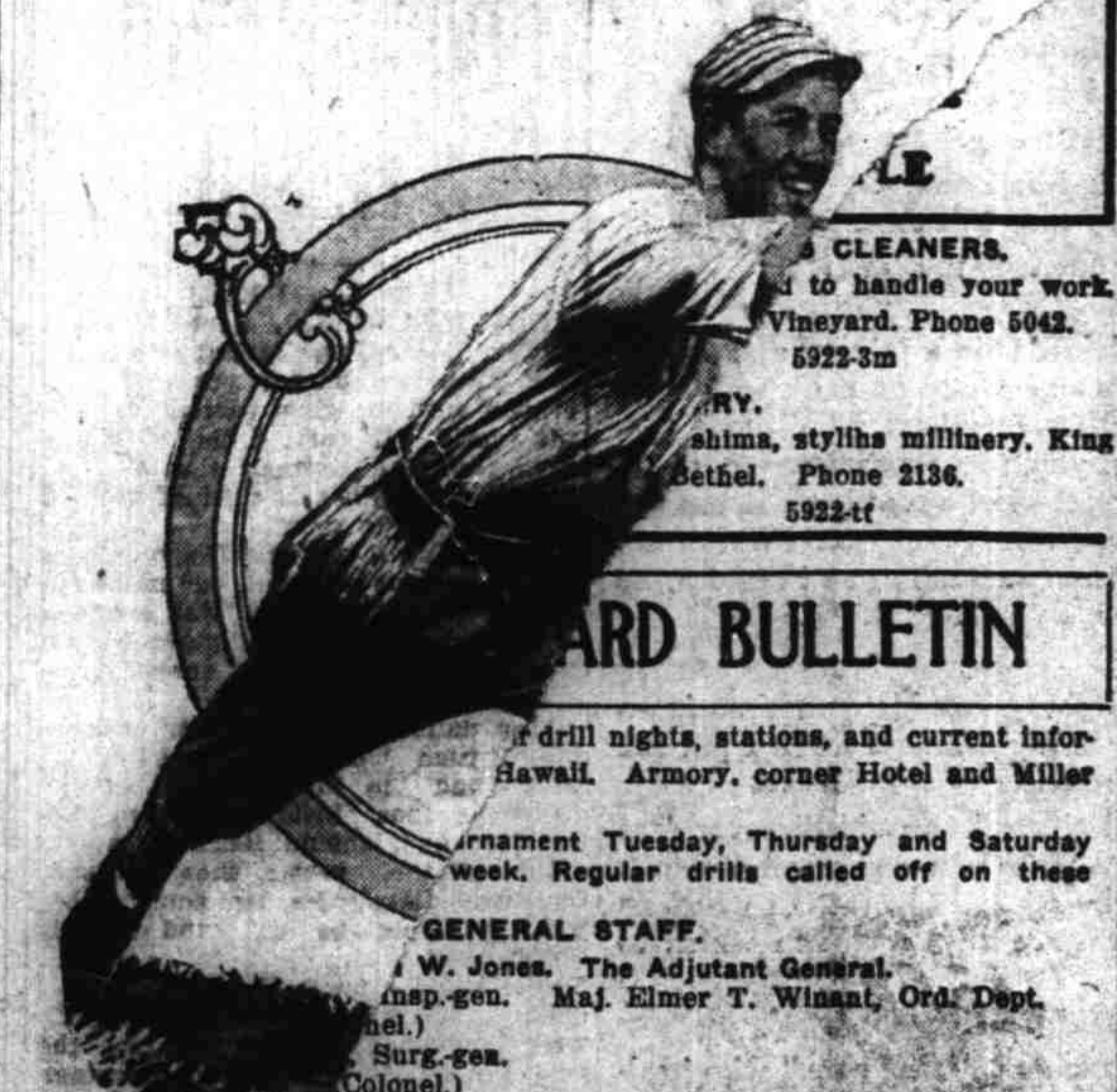

IT LOOKS very much as though the Boston Braves could begin counting the world's series coin. The team is now six full games ahead of the Giants, who are staggering under the drive, while Boston is apparently breezing along easily. When the Braves split even on a double header with the Reds yesterday while the Giants dropped two in a row to St. Louis, it almost put McGraw out of the running.

If Boston wins the pennant in the National League, it will be a very generally popular victory. Random is apt to unite in favor of the under dog, and certainly Stallings' crew was far enough under in mid-season to excite sympathy. Anyone who had predicted a Boston victory when the team was a bad last, and New York a strong first, would have been locked up as dangerous. And yet the Braves turned the trick. While the entire baseball population of the country looked on in wonder, they went from the bottom to the top of the percentage table. Then, after a ding-dong fight with New York, the latter team began to slip, and Boston is now in a very comfortable position in regard to the flag.

IN THE American League the other Boston team, champions of two years ago, have been making a great race of it, and only the tremendous lead established by the Mackmen in the first part of the season has kept them off the anxious seat. The Athletics were so far out in front that nothing short of a miracle could beat them, and it is presumably that the team let down considerably when in an apparently safe position, in order to save the players for the world's series. Had the Red Sox broken anything like even in their games during the last month, the Athletics would have maintained their big advantage, but the former have won a big percentage of contests, while the latter have dropped quite a number of late. If the season was a couple of weeks longer, the Philadelphia players might have to worry considerably.

HONOLULU fans are looking forward to the arrival of the Veneto team with more than ordinary interest, and it is probable that in attending the series will beat the University of California games played here last June. The Oahu league games this year have failed to enthuse followers of the national game, and they are anxiously awaiting the chance to see new faces and new stuff. The games in Honolulu should draw like a molasses road, and it's certain that Schofield will turn out en masse for the game played there.
